Facebook Reflection

In this project, I learned about World War II through the eyes of a made-up persona. This project was integrated with the Weapons Project in Math/Chemistry. I learned about World War II and the lifestyle that people lived, including the media they might have listened to and their education and career choices.

My main problem during this project was formatting issues. I had problems with getting the screen grab of the Facebook to appear in the browser like a real Facebook page. This took a while, but I eventually got the formatting correct.

If I had the chance to redo this project, I wouldn't. I am content with how it turned out. I feel that it is an accurate representation of my abilities using what I have learned here at High Tech High Media Arts.

This project will help me later if I ever pursue a career in graphics designs.
